MAY 2021

Government of South Australia

The Department of the Premier and Cabinet Communications, together with the Media Panel have devised interesting and informative professional development sessions available to all government marketing, communications and recruitment staff responsible for Brand or Functional advertising.

These complimentary professional development opportunities are a direct benefit from the Master Media Scheme.

Registrations are now open for May and June sessions, with future sessions opening for registration approximately 1–2 months ahead of the scheduled date.

Places are limited for each session – please click on the unique event link to register your attendance.
All training sessions until July 2021 will be held online.

It is understandable that last minute and unavailable priorities may conflict with your ability to attend a session you have registered for. However, it is kindly requested that you register an apology with the media agency presenting the session as soon as possible via email.

Please click on the relevant media agency to connect with their email details:

Finecast – The future of screens

In 2020 we saw Australian Smart TV and BVOD audiences grow dramatically driven by COVID and mass shifts in viewer consumption behaviours. The adoption of Smart TV penetration in Australia is now at critical mass with 87% of Aussie households now having more than 1 Connected TV or Digital Streaming device in their homes. This session will look at key trends, viewer behaviours and how advertisers are adapting fast to capitalize on these behaviours, transforming traditional TV advertising into modern TV planning & buying with addressable TV.

Presenter

Tania David, Head of Marketing & Business Development, Finecast

Writing for the Web

The way we view, interact and engage with websites has changed substantially in the past few years. From tablet and phone optimisation to the improvement of analytics and data capture, digital is an integral platform that often falls victim to lack of strategic planning or tactical know-how, particularly when it comes to the written word. This short, informative workshop will run through key tips and advice to ensure you are optimising your writing for online spaces - from the initial content framing right through to mining your own data to ensure the content you create is relevant to your audience. Presented by leading communications agency BCW in conjunction with Wavemaker.

Presenter

Tess Fisher, Senior Account Director, BCW.

BCW is a leading agency specialising in corporate communications, consumer campaigns, and issues and crisis management. With personnel throughout Australia and New Zealand, as well as at more than 200 locations around the world, BCW is part of the WPP group and works closely in SA with sister company Wavemaker to provide clients with integrated communications campaigns and projects.

WPP Presents – The Role of Communication in Public Policy Development

The events of 2020 constrained public behaviours, altered public attitudes, and fundamentally reformed the relationship between citizens and the state. But which of these changes will be temporal, and which are likely to be permanent? Drawing on WPP's global work with both public and corporate clients over the last year, the Government & Public Sector Practice has identified the key societal and behavioural changes that are taking place; summarised the significant trends and media habits that have emerged; and analysed how government communicators need to respond in a world that's changed rapidly – and will continue to do so for the rest of the decade.

Presenter

Michael Harris, Executive Director, WPP Government & Public Sector Practice AUNZ and Sean Larkins, Global Head of Strategy, WPP

The Messy Middle

As consumers are exposed to more information and choice, purchase decisions are becoming more complex. We know there is a complicated web of touchpoints that differs from person to person. But what isn't clear, is how shoppers process all of the information they discover along the way, to make a final purchase.

Together with The Behavioural Architects, we will reveal a new model of decision making that has accelerated as consumers spend more time online.

Presenter

This session will be hosted by Google on Google Meet. If you would like to attend this session, you will need to use a Google account or you can dial in. Details will be provided after you RSVP via the link below.

Building brands on social

Social media's ability to drive short term business results has been proven beyond any doubt over the last few years. What we'll explore in this session is whether social media can build a brand over the long term? And if so, how would a brand need to approach social? How the that different to current best practice?
